Pelon and Moose Edge Tough Foes, VFW and Barber

The first-half winners were dumped a second time in the second half at Third street softball diamond Tuesday night, a loss which dropped them into fourth place and probably out of competition for the second half championship.

The loss was handed Barber Fords by the lowly Moose, and made more ironic by the fact that Moose ended the first half of the season in the cellar. Moose won Tuesday night, 1-0 on a two-hitter by Bill Zych and George Bolts.

And in the second game, the current leaders, Pelon Sunoco, nearly were pinned by the Vets. Pelon won, 10-8, but had to score three runs in the tail end of the final inning to do it.

In the first game, Zych allowed Norm Boeve a single swat in the third inning, and that was all. No other hits were made by Ford until the final inning, when Bouman singled, but the rally was quelled in time to give Moose the win.

Red Hulst banged the big one to give Moose its lone run. He hammered a triple after two were out in the second inning, and got home when Walt Hudzik singled. Apart from these blows, only Stu Baker and Hulst got other singles.

In the second game, neither Case Veldman for Sunoco, nor Larry Tibbets for the Vets was able to stop opposing batters, but the Sunoco batters banged a bit harder and in the final frame overcame a 9-7 deficit to go on and win.

Sunoco had started out with a run in the first inning, added two more in the third, two in the fourth, and then began to coast. The Vets went ruts for the first five innings, but in the sixth exploded for four tallies. Back they came in the seventh to score five more and go out in front for the first time.

But they couldn't hold their lead. Sunoco had gotten two runs in the sixth, and then added three to win in the last frame.

Jay Hoffman was the big Sunoco battering thorn in the Vets side Tuesday night, banging a homer and two doubles. Ike DeNeff got three singles, while Ken Matchinsky hammered two singles. Vern Vande Water and Cec Serier got lone doubles, and Harry DeNeff and Veldman each got singles.

Con Boeve led the Vets in defeat, hitting a homer and a single. Chick Zych got two singles, while Don Van Duren tagged a double. Johnny Van Hooven and Tucker each got singles.

The Wooden Shoe tilt was credited to Marv Busscher, who clobbered Van Dyke to a four-hit win. He allowed L. Sale to bang a triple, and gave up singles to T. Johnson, M. Lugthild, and T. Boeve, but that was all. He struck out nine in the seven inning game.

4-H'ers Learn Crafts At Camp Pottawatomie

Ottawa county 4-H'ers are all set for another four-day camp session this week at Camp Pottawatomie, the 20 acre plot on Pottawatomie bay located two miles southeast of Grand Haven.

The Board of Supervisors purchased the site in 1947. It previously had been a private camp for boys.

The camp is no luxury spot, but is comfortable with a fairly large lodge which houses the kitchen, dining room and craft rooms; four sleeping cabins and two small buildings for showers and sanitary facilities. Several tents were pitched for the boys.

Robert Campbell, new 4-H county agent, serves as camp director, assisted by Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk, home demonstration agent. Mothers of 4-H boys and girls assist in the cooking, and to some degree with the camp program. A well-rounded program kept 40 youngsters busy the first four days last week. This week's camp session is expected to attract 50 children from this county.

Campers usually find the two swimming periods the highlight of the day's program. The buddy system is followed with youngsters paired off. At the signal of the whistle, partners are found and hands raised. All swimming periods are under supervision of Campbell.

Craft sessions also have proved popular and many are the belts, billfolds and other leather gadgets the proud youngsters take home to their families. One day this week Mrs. Ed Henning demonstrated how to fix vegetable baskets for competition at the county fair.

Women who assisted in the camp program last week were Mrs. Josephine Beuschel, Mrs. Mildred Scott, Mrs. Mildred Brems, Delores Spencer, Mrs. Fred Abel, Mrs. Harry Lenters, Mrs. Leonard Fought, Mrs. Leo Arnold and Mrs. Gerald Pelgrim.

Farm Bureau Discusses Overload Truck Problem

The Hamilton Farm Bureau came to several conclusions Friday evening in their discussion on solving the problem of overloaded trucks. The group decided that permit cost should be scaled upward rapidly with the increase of the overload and that the money collected be returned to the township or county where the truck uses the secondary road.

It was also agreed that the fines should be used for repairs and maintenance of the roads. Members concluded that fines are too low and laws poorly enforced.

The Bureau also stated that the practice of trucks by-passing weigh stations should result in heavily increased fines and other penalties.

The discussion took place at a picnic at Kollen park with about 20 members present. The August meeting will be cancelled in favor of the county Farm Bureau picnic that month. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Klein will be hosts at the September meeting.

Limited space at Holland State Park has caused crowding of trailers and tents at the popular Lake Michigan beach recently, and during the weekend, Park Manager Clare Broad said he was forced to turn away several persons who made

Visitors Jam Resorts To Escape Heat in City

Holland area resorts were a mecca for out-of-towners and local residents seeking escape from hot weather that sent thermometers up into the high 80's and 90's during the week-end.

Holland state park was jammed to overflow both Saturday and Sunday, according to Manager Clare Broad. A total of 13,125 persons visited the park Saturday and attendance skyrocketed to 20,150 Sunday. Traffic was bumper-to-bumper as motorists inched their way toward the sand and ideal Lake Michigan water for a swim.

Last week's attendance was 87,524, Broad said. That makes total attendance so far this year 952,324.

Broad announced addition of Robert Burton to the park ranger staff and Roger Kemper of Holland, is the new life guard. Bruce McAllister of Holland is the other life guard.

A total of 44 trailers were admitted to the park Saturday and two Sunday. However, Broad reports several trailers were turned away both days for lack of space. A total of 76 camping permits were issued last week, bringing to 1,215 the permits so far this year.

Green Hornets Trip Merchants; Furnace Wins

The Green Hornets waited until the fifth inning to let the Tulip Merchants know trouble was brewing at Third Street Friday night, but from that point on, the Merchants must have seen signs of defeat. Hornets won, 9-8.

The second game went to Holland Furnace, 4-1, over Baker Furniture.

In the first game, the Hornets went both hitless and runless for three innings against Merchant pitcher Norm Japinga, while three Merchants got home in those innings.

In the fourth, the Hornets got one man home, but in the top half of the inning, Merchants had gotten three men home. That made it a long uphill climb, and in the next inning, the Merchants made it 7-1.

Then came the Hornet explosion, and when the inning had ended the score was 7-6. At the end of the sixth it was 8-7, still with the Merchants in the lead, but in the final frame, Bob Fortney, Hornet pitcher, got the side out on three flies and his mates stepped up and went to work.

Rich Wolters singled, and was followed by Jerry Kruithof, who doubled. Then with runners on second and third, Al Sauder doubled to end the game.

Wolters got two singles. Don Zwier got a homer and a double, and Bud Oostdyke got two singles to lead Hornet hitting. Jay Wolbert and George Smeenge joined Sauder and Kruithof in the double department, and Herm Rittenby got a single.

In the Furniture-Furnace game, the Furnacemen got Floyd Vanden Boldt home in the first inning, and then performed the same trick in the third inning to take a two-run lead that wasn't threatened until the sixth.

Then the Furniture crew got their pitcher, Jim Baxter, home after he had walked. But two insurance tallies in the sixth sewed up the game for the Furnacemen.

Furniture outlived the Furnace crew but still lost, getting nine hits to six for Furnace. Ray Morren was the Furnace pitcher who scattered the Furniture hitting power.

Russ Bird got three singles, and Harv Bluekamp got two singles for the losers. Jim Crozier, Jim Van Harn, Mel Vande Water and Baxter all got singles.

For Furnace, Morren got a double, and Bill Franks, Vanden Boldt, Wally Hasty, Mel Sharda, and John Tjalma each got singles.

Toolmen Capture B League Crown

Western Machine Tool won the first round B league baseball championship Saturday afternoon with a 5-1 triumph over Dutch Boy Breads.

Both teams had plenty of scoring opportunities but Western turned more of theirs into runs. Jack Kemper, in his first start, was the winning pitcher. He gave up four hits, walked five and struck out 11.

La Vern Nienhuis was losing pitcher. Western knocked him for nine hits. He walked three and fanned five.

Ron Israels, Kemper, Dick Plagenhoef and Ron Van Dyke all had two hits for Western. One of Israels' was a triple to the flag pole. Ron Boeve got the other hit. Rog Voss had two hits for Dutch Boy. Nienhuis and Dave Schreur got the other two.

Municipal Court News

In Municipal Court traffic cases Saturday, Robert Timmer, 332 Fourth Ave., paid $19.70 fine and costs for speeding; Peter J. Van Drunen, South Holland, Ill., paid $10 fine and costs for failure to observe assured clear distance; and William P. Rhoda, 563 College Ave., paid $7 fine and costs for driving with a defective muffler.

That crowd at Zeeland Friday night would have warmed the heart of most any ticket taker. About 400 paid, and that was by far the largest single crowd seen at a ball game in this area thus far this season.

Holland's Dutchmen have been drawing handful-sized crowds to their Monday and Thursday night games, and Business Manager Russ Vander Poel has cast more than one eye at the faltering financial status of the club.

But it's not just the Dutchmen with their lack-lustre season, because attendance at sporting events is down everywhere in the area. Vander Poel summed it up when he noted that it simply was a sports world depression, that probably would end, sometime, he hoped.

Night sailboat racing would be a happy addition to local sports, if only someone would unload that bag of winds after 7 p.m., each evening. As it is, the winds put in an eight hour day and then go home, leaving the sailors stranded. In the first two night races held this year, paddles, not sails, proved the prime mover.

Schrotenboer-Weener Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Schrotenboer carried a white Bible and wore a string of pearls, gift of the groom. Miss Shirley Nienhuis, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Alfred Arendsen, sister of the groom and Miss Lorraine Dykema were bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical gown of sheer nylon in blue and pink and carried mixed bouquets and wore matching flower headbands. Mary Weener, flower girl, wore a pale green taffeta dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

The Rev. Peter De Jong performed the ceremony before a setting of palms, bouquets of summer flowers and candelabra. Mrs. Morris Lokers, organist, played the wedding marches and accompanied Charles Dykstra, who sang "I Love You Truly" and the "Wedding Hymn."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon marquisette and chantly lace designed with a lace-off-the-shoulder berth. The basque bodice was fitted and had long sleeves. A double ruffle of lace formed an apron effect in the front of the full gathered skirt which ended in a long train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion edged with lace, fell from a seed pearl crown. She

Triangle Upset In B Loop Play

The second round of Recreation B league play started with a bang and opened the eyes of first round leaders on the 22nd St. diamonds Thursday night.

Triangle, which has taken the first half championship in a breeze with five straight victories, went down to a 9-8 defeat at the hands of Lith-I-Bar Thursday night, the first defeat of the season for Triangle.

Also Thursday night, Holland Hitch awoke from its first half lethargy to capture a 12-7 decision over Sixth Reformed. Hitch hadn't won a single game in first half competition.

In the third contest, Wierda Upholstery tipped the Collegians, 9-5, for its first victory in the second half.

80 Small Boats In Annual Event

The 22nd annual West Michigan Yachting association regatta will be held on Lake Macatawa Friday and Saturday of this week and Sunday of next week, with about 75-80 sailboats slated for participation.

Boats of 10 classes will be entered in the races, and probably will come from all nine member clubs in the association. Largest in competition will be the E class inland scows, about 30 feet of platter-shaped boat flying three large sails and carrying four in the crew. Smallest in competition probably will be a dinghy class, 12-14 feet in length, using one sail.

Spring Lake, Crystal Lake, Grand Rapids, White Lake, Muskegon, Torch Lake and Portage Lake all are expected to send boats and crews to Lake Macatawa for the regatta.

The small boats will race in the morning, by classes, with the larger boats slated for competition in the afternoon.

All races will be held on Lake Macatawa, with none slated on Lake Michigan.

The regatta travels each year, and last year was held at Spring Lake.

Classes in competition are E and C class inland scows, Snipes, National One-Designs, Y-Flyers, Scooters, Wood-Pussies, Lightnings, Lawley 110's, and Dinghies. Ed Jones of Saugatuck is chairman of the event.

Bolshevik is derived from the Russian "bolsha" meaning "majority."

Whitey Witteveen Scores Winning Tally in Tenth

A never-die attitude on the part of Holland's Flying Dutchmen kept them banging away at the Kalamazoo Fullers in extra innings Thursday night, and their efforts payed off with a 7-6 victory.

The Dutch entered their half of the tenth with the score 6-5 in Kalamazoo's favor. The Fullers had just scored their sixth run to crack a 5-5 deadlock, and looked well on their way to victory.

But Tony Wentzel singled to right in the tenth, and went all the way to third when the pitcher threw wildly to first, trying to pick him off.

Whitey Witteveen was next up and lined a single to center, scoring Wentzel. He went to second on a wild pitch and then to third the same way. Buck Mowry was at bat, and chugged a slow grounder down the first baseline. Apparently the Kalamazoo player didn't think Witteveen would break for the plate, and so threw to first to get Mowry, the second out.

But Witteveen had no intention of camping on third, and after waiting his chance, headed home. The throw from first came too late, and he slid under the catcher to score and end the game.

The Dutch couldn't get going in the game, however, until the seventh inning, when they exploded for five runs on four hits to knock out the Kalamazoo pitcher. A double by Lou Humbert, a single by Morry Witteveen, and triples by Tony Wentzel and Rog Eggers gave the locals their talies.

The score at that point was 5-2, Kalamazoo having gotten one run in the first and a second in the fifth, when Zimmerman, the pitcher, swatted a homer.

But in the Fuller half of the eighth, a triple and two singles coupled with a long fly and some base running gave Kalamazoo three game-tying runs.

Daffy Victor, who had pitched eight-hit ball over the first eight innings, was sent to the showers when he got into difficulty in the ninth, and Eggers took over. Eggers fanned two that inning and got the other man on an infield grounder, nipping a Fuller rally.

But in the tenth, the Fuller centerfielder doubled and scooted to third on an error. He scored when Eggers tried to pick him off third, setting the stage for the strong effort made by the Dutch in their half of the tenth.

Victor was counted the winner, and Zimmerman the loser. The Dutch meet Zealand's Chix at Zeeland tonight in a traditional battle, with the Chix aiming to even the score. The Chix lost to Holland, 17-6, in their first meeting this year.

THE FOUR-CENT STAMP

Remember the time when a two-cent stamp would take a letter to any point within the United States? Those who are old enough to recall that happy time will also remember that the stamp carried a picture of George Washington.
Until about World War I days Americans took it for granted that two cents per letter was in the very nature of things. It was almost as natural as the rising of the sun in the morning.

When the post office finally got the price advanced to three cents, the American people accepted the boost in large part in the understanding that the change was only temporary. Normalcy would presently come back and we would return to two-cent postage. The American people had not learned at that time that an increase in the cost of government service is never lowered again—literally never.

But they have learned it by this time, and the proposed increase in letter postage to four cents does not leave room for the hope that we will return to the three-cent rate later. That time will never come. The great-grandchildren of the citizens of today will still be paying four cents. Or more likely they will be paying five or six, for government expenditures are all headed in only one direction.

The post office of course argues that all costs are going up and that postal service costs more than it did in the good old days.
That's of course true, but it is not the whole story. When Junius B.
Wood spoke before the Holland Rotary club the other day he said among other things: "The federal government goes along mostly on the theory of emergencies, and at present employs 42,000 public relations men who give lavish services offering $73 million worth of free folders, most of which find their way into our bigger and better waste baskets."

That's one reason why you will have to pay four cents for a stamp in the not distant future. Those 42,000 men and women receive salaries that usually are above the $10,000 level and sometimes much above that mark. Some of them render a real service to the American people; the vast majority are in the business of justifying their lavish spending of the government.

That's in itself only a small item but it helps to explain the coming new postal rate. No one has suggested cutting those 42-000 public relations men to a third of that number. The federal government knows only one technique—increased spending and pay for it by increased taxation. We have just finished our Michigan Annual report—1931. The rate has been increased from 21 mills to 31 mills. Where does taxation and waste stop. Keep on writing your elected officials.

Sunday School
Lesson

Christian Principles in Earning a Living
Luke 12:13-21

By Henry Geerlings

The scene in this lesson is a striking one. The rich and prosperous farmer goes out at even-tide to gaze upon his flocks and herds, and broad acres giving promise of an abundant harvest.
The cattle are fat and well favored, and the fields bend their heads because of the full corn in the ear. Wherever he turned he saw prosperity. Within his house there would be the same evidence of smiling abundance. The choicest of food graced his table.

Walking beside him in the field or sitting with him in his elegant room, who would not envy that rich man. But there is another side of this picture. The man of wealth is alone in his room. He ponders over his increasing fortune and musing plans for its preservation. In imagination he looked down the years and saw for himself a ripe old age in which he should enjoy the fruits of his industry and prudence. His friends congratulated him but God called him a fool. That is a hard word and should not often fall from our lips, but where God has used it, we, too, may apply it.
No man wants to be thought a fool. It is hard to bear the thought that others think us foolish, harder to know ourselves to be guilty of folly, but hardest of all to have the supreme judge say of us, "Thou fool." Our neighbors may be, and indeed often are, and even we ourselves may be deceived, but God never is. A decision from His court admits of no appeal.

There were many things to be said in his favor. Fortune had smiled upon him. He knew how to select seed and soil, and how to take advantage of shower and sunshine and soon his barns were full to overflowing. Now money answers many things, and he is wise who knows how to accumulate and keep it, but he is a fool who risks his soul on his stocks and bonds. Men are not to be classed as fools today who are diligent in business and successful in accumulation of property. The folly is in permitting these to so occupy the attention that provision for the great winter of death is entirely neglected.

This man was prudent. As he looked at his barns and then at his harvest, he saw that the one could not contain the other, and so he resolved to build larger barns, that none of the harvest be wasted. This, too, was commendable. Waste is one of the sins today. Ninety per cent of the poverty of this land may be traced to extravagance. The diligent and the prudent, God everywhere commends. The man in this story was not condemned for his economy. His folly was not in seeking to protect his crop, but in neglecting to guard his soul.

One element of folly in this man was in making elaborate provision for time and none for eternity. Early and late he toiled and planned and stored away his goods that his body might never hunger, but his prudence lay all in one direction. No one questions the wisdom of making provision for a rainy day but the rainy day may never come. Are not the needs of the soul as great as the needs of the body? Then why make elaborate provision for the one and entirely neglect the other?
To the body we give our best thought and toil six days in each week while to the soul we give not six hours in a year. For a life that may end tomorrow, and at most pass away in a few years, we give so much care, while for the life that must abide eternally no provision is made.

As in nature, God provides the conditions of a harvest, but demands that men shall appropriate and use them, so in grace he provides the conditions of salvation, but only those who by faith appropriate and use them will ever reap the joys of eternal life.

Another element of folly in this man lay in the fact that he counted on many years when God did not promise one. As one looks into the future there appear many years between us and the open grave. That may be true but no one knows how soon we may be called to leave earthly scenes and appear before the judgment throne. Because of the uncertainties of time we make provisions for other things. We insure our homes because a fire may visit us some day. While there is a chance of a fire at some time we prepare for it by carrying some insurance. The death angel may come at any moment and if we are not prepared to meet him we may be eternally lost.

The man was called suddenly.
Dying was farthest from his thought as he entered his chamber that last night. It was a sudden call. Human life is fleeting and unstable. A misstep is sufficient to snap the cord that holds us from the grave. This man's dream was sealed.

There is still exceeding danger in inches. If one is not careful, he will allow his love for material things to come between him and his love for the Lord. When this happens one is already on the road to moral and spiritual ruin.
Many otherwise fine people are led astray from the faith by riches.

The Christian should guard his behavior at all times. Whether he likes it or not, he is an example for all men. They judge Christianity by the way the Christian lives and by so much are either drawn to or turned away from the kingdom of God. The Christian should be above reproach at all times in matters relating to material things. Otherwise he is a stumbling block to those about him.

Christianity Holds Key to Freedom, Sligh Asserts

Rotary Speaker Cites Bible Quotations to Emphasize Remarks

Charles R. Sligh, Jr., well-known Holland and Grand Rapids businessman and prominent layman in Episcopal church affairs, addressed Rotarians at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Castle, Thursday.

"American free enterprise economic system is completely consistent with Christianity, while socialism or communism are completely inconsistent with the Christian philosophy," Sligh said. "Christianity recognizes the importance of the individual and that each person is alone responsible for his own salvation and as a child of God is of supreme worth. Socialism and communism exalt the state over the individual."

Sligh gave quotations from the Bible showing that the Bible recognized competition and the right to own private property. He also gave five rules for employer, employee relations in a Christian business.

In speaking on taxes, Sligh said steps toward socialism are confiscatory or near confiscatory taxes. We have had progressive taxation for years in individual income taxes. Karl Marx said one of the 10 best ways to destroy a successful capitalist system would be to institute progressive taxation.

In the first 156 years of our history we collected $248 billion in taxes. During the last 6 1/2 years we collected $260 billion which exceeds the total taxes collected during the terms of all the presidents in our history through Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"Rent controls are on the road to socialism. A man hesitates to build for rental purposes because he can't obtain fair returns on his investment. France fell into this pit 25 years ago. They put in rent controls and as a result there is practically no building in France today for rental purposes and a housing shortage."

Sligh said, "Price controls definitely are not the answer to our present problems. High prices are not inflation, they are the result of inflation. Inflation is basically caused by deficit financing on the part of the government."

They are spending more than they take in. Inflation is a surplus of dollars in our economy chasing an undersupply of civilian goods. With more dollars in our pockets than goods on the shelves the prices are bid up and higher prices result."

"Price controls do not correct. At best they may temporarily arrest inflation. The only way to correct and cure the trouble is to have a sound debt management such as proper credit controls and a sound tax program. These steps can cure inflation if we have the courage to use them."

Concluding with the reading of a poem "The Way," the speaker pointed out that the world has tried many ways to find peace by war, treaty and bombs, without success. The only way left is the most powerful in the world, God's divine word.

Township Citizens Appoint Committee To Probe Housing

Residents Protest Heinz Construction Of 'Employee City'

A five-man citizens' committee appointed by protesting Park and Holland township residents met with officials of the H. J. Heinz company to try to work out an equitable solution to both parties' housing problems.

The committee was appointed by an overflow crowd of about 200 township residents who voiced general protest to the Heinz plans at a community meeting Monday night at Pine Creek school.

Heinz planned to build a housing camp on 144th Ave., for emergency workers. But area residents protested the construction, and Heinz plant manager C. B. McCormick and other factory officials met with the protesting neighbors Monday night.

McCormick met with the committee after the general meeting, and further meetings later this week are planned. The company's main office in Pittsburgh, Pa., was notified of the new twist in the situation Tuesday McCormick said.

The citizens' committee is headed by Al Stansby as chairman. Holland township members are Joe Reurink, John Doll and Gerrit Raach, while Russell Leeuw of Park township also is a member.

The committee has offered to re-buy the property and reimburse Heinz for money already spent, McCormick said. He added that the committee now is searching for another suitable site for the housing project.

Township attorney Vernon Ten Cate outlined to Monday's protest meeting how the present situation could not have arisen if Holland township had a zoning ordinance. Ten Cate said under the ordinance, the street in question would be zoned agricultural and commercial; a project such as the Heinz proposal would have to be approved by the zoning board.

But township voters turned down the ordinance at the polls five years ago. Opinion Monday seemed to favor a zoning ordinance now as soon as possible.

Both Ten Cate and attorney Irvin Heyniger of Holland township, who was chairman of the protest meeting, pointed out that township citizens have no legal recourse to prevent Heinz from going ahead with the construction. Both said they felt "we can sit down with Heinz and settle the problem."

The property in question is the former Bell property on 144th Ave. It measures 1,000 by 495 feet. McCormick said that temporary living units would be constructed at the back of the property, and that a cinder block community building, 40 by 100 feet, would serve the area with kitchen facilities, showers, toilet rooms, recreation room and dining room. The living units would be portable, McCormick said, and would be moved to the various farms for transient laborers when the plant employment emergency was ended.

McCormick said that Heinz preferred to use as much local help as possible, but when that was exhausted the company contacts the Michigan employment service. The state office gets in touch with another state employment office, McCormick said, and supplies workers. Usually that second state is Kentucky.

Workers to be housed in the project would be only male factory employees, McCormick said. They would work through the emergency and then return to their homes, he added.

Heinz spokesmen pointed out that the workers will be needed by Aug. 25. About half the footings for foundations have been poured, but during negotiations with the residents, work has been halted, McCormick said.

The five-man committee has been instructed to report back to another general citizens' meeting to be held Thursday evening at Pine Creek school.

Residents' arguments presented at the meeting included lessening of property values, inadequate police and fire protection facilities, and concentration of single male workers in so small an area, with possible resulting difficulties.

Garden of the Week selected for this week's honors by the Holland Tulip Garden club is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer, 608 Lawnside Ct. They selected a spot next to the south side of their house for a small perennial garden. A naturally beautiful setting but an abundance of shade made the location of a flower garden a difficult problem. The Meyers have taken advantage of their sunniest location and made a small but colorful garden. A flower box has an abundance of petunias, and asters and daisies can be seen. The Meyer children, Billy and Elizabeth, posed proudly near the garden for the Sentinel photographer.
